

Make a Picasso Fortune Teller

Build the fortune teller. Then choose one of the four words and find its matching fact. Next spell out the word, opening and closing the fortune teller with each letter. (i.e. LOVE- four letters, move four times). Choose a second word on the inside and find its matching fact. Lastly, open the flap with your second word and complete the creative challenge!

1. Cut out the fortune teller
2. Turn it over and fold bottom left to top right
3. Fold bottom right to top left
4. Unfold it back to a square
5. Fold all corners to the middle
6. Turn it over
7. Fold each corner to the middle
8. Fold in half one way and then the other way

It should look like this

You're done!

Picasso facts

Dog

Picasso loved dogs. His large St Bernard, called Bob, appears in many family photographs in the 1930s.

Sculpture

Although Picasso is best known for his paintings, he also created sculptures. He used materials including iron and plaster.

House

In June 1930, Picasso bought a house in Northern France. He turned one of the stables into a sculpture studio where he made his artwork.

Love

Picasso had a big family with four children and lots of grandchildren.

Red chair

In 1932, Picasso painted a series of portraits. They show a woman seated in a red armchair. She is reading, sleeping and even dreaming.

Paris

After studying art in Barcelona, Picasso moved to Paris at the beginning of the 20th century, where he lived with other poor young artists. Within a few decades he was celebrated and wealthy.

Calendar

1932 was a very busy year for Picasso and he created lots of artworks. We think that he might have painted some of his paintings in just one day.

Mirror

Picasso often included props in his portraits. We can see plants, fruit, guitars and mirrors in many of his paintings.

Seaside

Picasso went on a family holiday to the seaside in Normandy. In some of his paintings we can see people at the beach and swimmers playing with a beachball.

Painting

Picasso liked to try new things and experiment in his art. Between the two world wars he made works inspired by classical art, and was also interested in surrealism and cubism.

Fame

In 1932 the first exhibition to look at a whole range of Picasso's work took place in Paris. It gained a lot of attention in the newspapers.

Birthday

Picasso turned 50 years old in 1931. We wonder if he had a big birthday party?
